

...this posed a serious fire risk. ...pants in the event of a fire.

■ From left, presenter Fiona Fury, former Miss Universe Michelle McLean and saxophonist Moreira with a vintage MG at the Kenilworth Racecourse. GARY VAN WYK

Celebrities go neck and neck with the nags at Queen's Plate

CELEBRITIES will provide comic relief as a foil to racehorses running in the L'Ormarins Queen's Plate at Kenilworth on December 30.

The celebrities are taking part in a three-legged charity race to raise funds for the Western Province Grooms' School Trust and the Western Cape Equine Trust, which supports the SPCA's horse care unit.

The Queen's Plate is one of South Africa's premier races over 1 600m. The winner is then drawn for the J&B Met.

Michelle McLean (wearing Kluk and Donna Terra jewellery), Fiona Fury and jazz saxophonist Moreira donned Kluk-CGdT originals and gathered at Kenilworth Racecourse to pose with two vintage cars - a 1959 MGA and a 1979 Mercedes 280SE - that will be on display at the race. Other celebrities taking part in the fun race include Basetsane and Romeo Kumalo, actor Jeremy Crutchley, designer Malcolm Kluk, singer James Stewart, DJ Suga and some Springboks.

going
th the
it so
nsor-
rved
le it
nber
eye-
day's
ting,
pos-
ing
tage
han
m.
ised
was
eat
the
ed
sly
ad
ne
in
on
ea
he ld
s,
r-

of
wr
we
Un
mo
fro
sin
the
fro
Thu
res
per
anc
par
to k
ove
J
lor
Dej
hav
from
rais
not
terti
poin
ST
gist,
sellec
said:
the ex
cessft
and e
He
ently
Bu
failing
end o
other
dren r
Pot
aroun
high e
The
said c
able a
Manaj
on T
will b
querie
deal w
"Le
if the

CCTV WITNESS